

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY GRAND LODGE

Pythians, in Session at Norfolk, Still Undecided as to Next Meeting Place.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., May 28.—With the selection of a place for holding the 1914 convention undecided, the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Virginia, elected officers to-day, and will tackle the other question to-morrow. The officers elected are:

J. W. Baer, of Clifton Forge, grand chancellor.
William McK. Woodhouse, of Norfolk, vice-grand chancellor.
James Bailey, of Richmond, master of chieftain.
Rev. I. E. Scott, of Warm Springs, Ireland.
R. H. Bell, of Staunton, master at arms.
C. D. Fox, of Roanoke, inner guard.
Rev. J. C. Holland, of Danville, outer guard.
H. M. Darnall, of Roanoke, keeper of records and seal.
Judge D. C. Richardson, of Richmond, supreme representative, M. S. Walton, of Woodstock, alternate.
Lynchburg and Alexandria are making a hard fight for the 1914 convention. Alexandria wants to change the date of holding the convention from May to February, there is to be a celebration in Alexandria on February 14 in honor of the founding of the order of Knights of Pythias. The first lodge of the order in Virginia was organized in that city about fifty years ago.

Lynchburg, however, appears to stand the best chance of securing the annual convention next year. It will be necessary to change the constitution of the order to meet in Alexandria in February, and a number of members are opposed to this.

A resolution to increase the per capita from 60 to 80 cents per annum was defeated, after a spirited discussion during the morning session. Another resolution that is expected to raise lengthily discussion will be introduced to-morrow. This will provide for the basing of representation in grand lodge by subordinate lodges according to membership.

Tomorrow afternoon the Knights and Pythian Sisters will be guests at a fish fry to be given on the Beach at Ocean View.

Pythian Sisters Elect Officers.

At the concluding session of the annual convention of the Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters of Virginia, this afternoon Mrs. Annie Perry, of Fredericksburg, was elected grand chief, succeeded by Mrs. E. L. Vandover, of Washington, D. C. Other officers elected were Mrs. Florence Bowdler, of Richmond, senior; Mrs. Estelle Kahler, of Washington, D. C., junior; Mrs. Ethel Daugherty, of Portsmouth, manager; Mrs. Ida Brown, of Washington, protector; Mrs. Laura Hicks, of Lynchburg, mistress of finance; Mrs. John W. Cherry, of Norfolk, outer guard; Mrs. Virginia Young, of Norfolk, inner guard; Mrs. Mary Graham, of Suffolk, supreme representative; and James Duffrey, of Lynchburg, alternate.

BUSINESS STEADY IN ELECTION YEAR

Volume of Excise Tax Paid by Corporations Unaffected by Change of Regime.

If the volume of Federal excise assessments against corporations in the Second Revenue District of Virginia is an index of the stability of big business, the throes of election year and the Democratic party have failed to bring the industrial disquietude predicted by prophets of the opposite political faith. Figures compiled yesterday by Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue C. M. Dwyer show that corporations in the Second District of Virginia have this year been assessed $308,459.95, as compared with $308,219.82, which was collected from the same source during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912.

The fact that there was no shrinkage in the period of uncertainty is taken to indicate a healthy state of affairs. The Federal excise tax is assessed on the basis of net earnings in excess of $5,000. The practically identical volume of these in the election year puts past and the year preceding shows that in the Second District of Virginia at least industrial earnings remained unaffected by the election and change of regime.

Wade said yesterday that a higher percentage of corporations in this district has reported this year for assessment than ever before in the history of the local office. Less than 100 corporations of the several thousand have failed to file their reports, and most of those are inconsequential concerns. The time limit for filing returns expired March 1. Those corporations that have not yet complied with the law are liable for a fine at the discretion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

REUNION HAS BEEN SOCIAL SUCCESS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 28.—The second day of the reunion of Confederate Veterans and the final business meeting awarded the next reunion to Jacksonville, Fla., or North Carolina city was placed in nomination, although a great deal of discussion was held regarding one of the North Carolina sites for the next meeting.

The Richmond Howitzers, who are here in new uniforms and in full regalia, made their first public appearance to-day in the parade of the Sons of Veterans and sponsors. All along the line of march they were greeted with applause, and easily made the best showing of any organization in the entire parade. They led the Virginia Division, and were a source of attraction. They are in Chattanooga with a total strength of seventy men. Arrangements have been made for this organization to leave Chattanooga Friday night at 11 o'clock. They will make the return trip on the special train with the R. E. Lee Camp of Richmond. A stop-over will be made in Asheville. The Howitzers are the guests of the city of Chattanooga. They have been quartered in the City Hall, and every attention has been shown them.

The Virginia Division in the parade held a position of honor. The decorated automobile floats carried the sponsors and maids of honor. Following this were the Sons, marching double file. Judging from the applause in the stands along the line of march, there were many Virginians present. Another division which showed to advantage was the North Carolina Sons. Two automobile floats carried these sponsors, and a long line of the Sons of Veterans followed. The crowning social feature of the reunion took place to-night, when the veterans' ball was held.

The immense tent of Chamberlain Field was filled to capacity, and a special section had to be reserved for the sponsors. The ball was opened by the Red Cross drill of the Memphis, Tennessee, and a long line of the old veterans followed. The following divisions formed by divisions for the grand march. Virginia was the third division in line. The veterans were accompanied on this march by the young women from the camps. North Carolina followed Virginia.

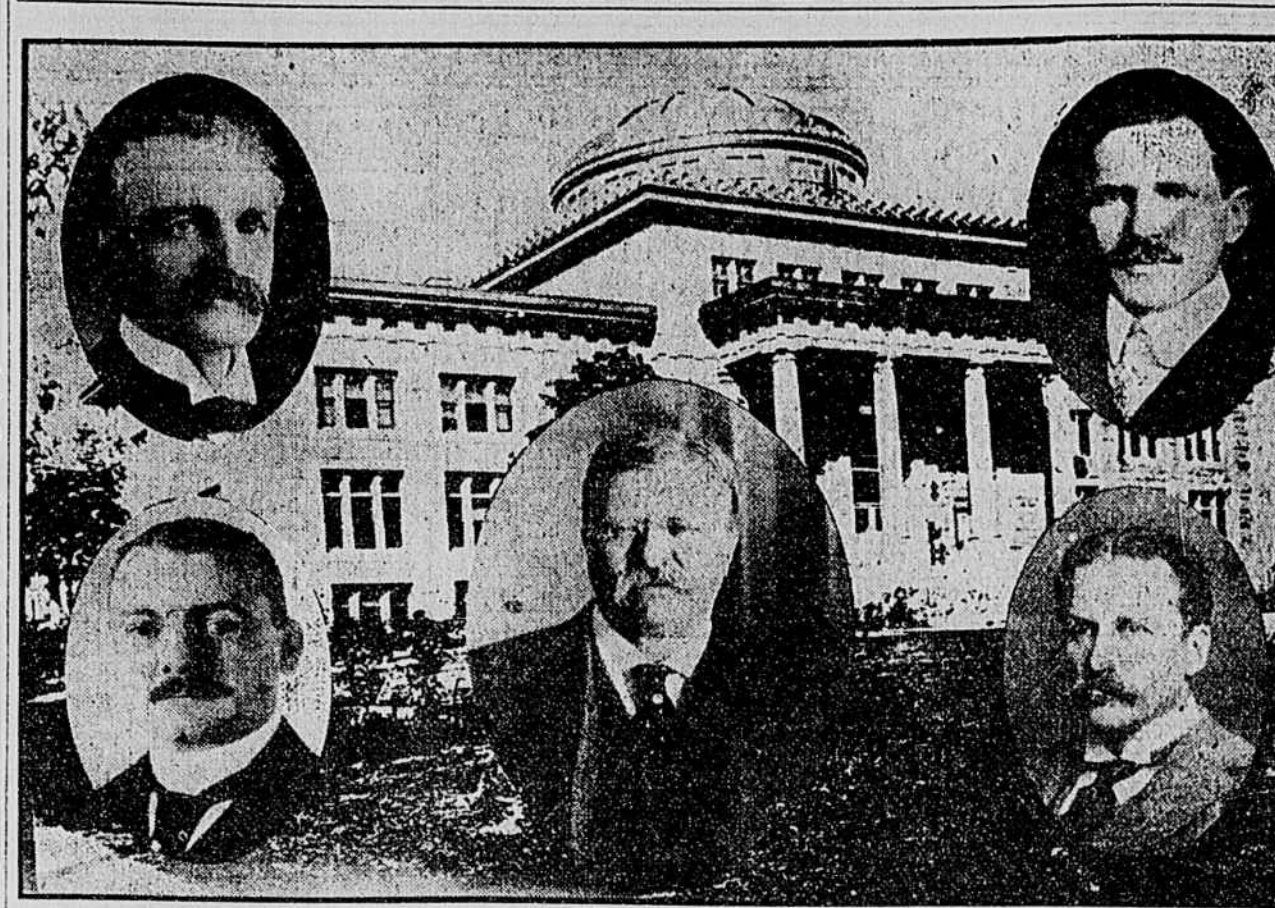

The reunion has been a success from a social standpoint for the visitors and sponsors, as well as the best reunion for the old veterans. Not a single injury or fatality has been reported in the camp divisions for North Carolina and Virginia.

The veterans' parade will begin to-morrow at 10 o'clock in the morning. Virginia will have a large representation in this parade, and the Howitzers will again participate.

Another social function has been arranged for to-morrow night, when the Sons of Veterans and their sponsors will hold the annual ball.

One of the central attractions at the reunion is Captain J. Shakespeare Harris, of Raleigh, N. C., who, though in the Confederate service, wore a blue officer's uniform during the war on spy charges. He was once captured and was sentenced to be hung the next morning, but escaped.

ROOSEVELT SPENDS HIS UNHAPPIEST DAY

Fighting Rages All Around Famous Plaintiff in Libel Suit, and He Is Unable to Get Into It.

BY RICHARD LITTLE.

Marquette, Mich., May 28.—Colonel Roosevelt spent one of the unhappiest days of his life to-day. There was a fight on. It raged all around him, but he could not get into it. His attorneys and the lawyers for Editor Newett, who is being sued because he published the statement that the Colonel was a drunkard, fought for hours over a point of law. They hurled reports and motions at each other, but he was not allowed to enter the arena.

He was in the courtroom, but he was not allowed to enter the arena. He was in the courtroom, but he was not allowed to enter the arena. He was in the courtroom, but he was not allowed to enter the arena.

Mr. Newberry and Mr. Bacon were equally positive as to Colonel Roosevelt's habits of sobriety.

Memories of the Cuban campaign were brought to Colonel Roosevelt's mind by the fact that he had been in the habit of getting drunk. After the court's ruling, he was permitted to answer. His answer was that he had heard such rumors, but that he regarded them as wholly unfounded and not worthy of notice.

"Whether or not the defendant will be entitled to show the source of his information for the purpose of establishing good faith on his part and belief in the truth of the article, must turn, it seems to me, on the other question of whether or not the damages may be increased by reason of actual malice in the publication, and the court will not pass upon that question until that question may be properly raised and argued when that testimony is offered. That disposes of all the pending questions, I think."

HOWITZERS MAKE HIT

Richmond Boys Are Centre of Attraction at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 28.—Representatives of the Howitzers, in dress uniforms, the Richmond Howitzers completely captured Chattanooga and its thousands of visitors to-day when they marched through two solid ranks of cheering humanity in the annual parade of Sons of Confederate Veterans. Clad in Confederate gray, with a tattered and gold-trimmed uniform, and with red plumes in the breeze, the Richmond boys easily topped any organization in the line. A battalion of Tennessee and two companies of Alabama and Mississippi Howitzers, the Pelham Guards, from Macon, Ga., and two companies of Tennessee militia participated in the parade and sponsors from many divisions of the organization.

Many thousands witnessed the parade this afternoon of the Sons of the Confederate Veterans. Attired in uniforms similar to those made famous throughout the Southland by their fathers, the Howitzers presented a striking spectacle. The Richmond Howitzers, the Pelham Guards, from Macon, Ga., and two companies of Tennessee militia participated in the parade and sponsors from many divisions of the organization.
